WHEREAS, The Philadelphia Home Rule Charter requires the annual operating budget to be balanced; and

WHEREAS, Real Estate Tax revenue can be increased through a City Council approved change in tax rate or an increase in real property assessments; and

CHAPTER 1 FISCAL AND BUDGETARY MATTERS

§ 8-108. Real property assessments.

(1) The Office of Property Assessment (OPA) shall make all assessments of real property on the basis of the actual value of individual properties. In making such assessments, the Office shall consider, in conjunction with one another, cost, comparable sales, and income approaches; and such assessments shall be determined independent of the need to balance the annual operating budget. The Office shall issue preliminary assessments by no later than eighty (80) days prior to the statutory deadline for final certification.

(2) Contemporaneous with OPA’s issuance of preliminary assessments, the Director of Finance shall certify whether any percentage annual increase in total preliminary assessments is greater than twice the annual percentage increase in the most recently reported United States Bureau of Labor Statistics’ Consumer Price Index-All Urban Consumers (CPI-U).

(3) No later than fifteen (15) days after the certification of an increase greater than twice the increase in the CPI-U, the Council may select a reputable third-party auditor to evaluate and report to Council whether such overall preliminary annual assessments more closely meet the standards set forth in paragraph (1), above, than did the previous year’s final assessments. Within forty-five (45) calendar days of the selection of such a third-party auditor, the auditor shall issue a report of its findings.

(5) Council may, by ordinance, revise the deadlines set forth herein, but in no instance may Council reject the overall annual assessments later than five (5) days prior to the statutory deadline for certification of assessments.
